Tutoring Experience

With more than seven years of teaching experience in IB Global Politics and History, I have helped numerous students excel in their studies. My role as an Extended Essay supervisor has enabled me to provide tailored support that enhances students' research skills and critical thinking abilities. I have also worked as an examiner, which has given me key insights into exam success strategies.

My previous collaborations with students in Georgia and across Asia have demonstrated the value of personalised teaching methods. My goal is to foster academic growth while instilling a passion for learning that extends beyond achieving grades. Whether it's preparing for IBDP exams or developing a strong Extended Essay, I ensure that every student receives focused, individualised support.
