Tutoring Experience

For the past 15 years, I have taught mathematics across a variety of international curricula, including IB Maths and A-Level Maths. My teaching career has taken me from Sweden to international schools across Europe, where I have worked with students of diverse backgrounds, ensuring their success in both coursework and final exams.

My experience includes preparing students for high-level exams such as AP Calculus and IGCSE Mathematics, along with offering personalised tutoring to ensure each student fully grasps the subject matter. I have seen students significantly improve their grades and confidence in mathematics, and I continue to focus on helping them excel in their academic pursuits.
